

Delivering independence
via personalisation of care.

Freedom, flexibility & future-proofing

Andi
by 2iC-Care

A growing number of people will need to live in extra care facilities.

52%

Increase in social care vacancies in March 2022.
Skills for Care

53%

of over 65's live with a disability.
Office of National Statistics

Care and housing resource is set to continually decrease.

Challenges for housing.

Residents with varied needs creates a requirement for a flexible solution which can connect to multiple peripherals.

Multiple stakeholders create a need for a single source of truth across care, housing and health.

There is a need to leverage modern technology to alleviate pressure, align stakeholders and meet scaling and changing needs.

Modern technology can drive efficiencies and help you to meet regulations.

Why is personalisation important?

Greater independence

Actionable insights for early intervention

High-quality, service-user-specific data

Personalised care via a needs-first approach

How do we enable greater independence
across housing?

Greater independence

Actionable insights for early
intervention

High-quality, service-user-specific data

Personalised care via a needs-first approach

Andi Open foundation with true interoperability

How will Andi personalise outcomes?

Device freedom – build a personalised care package based on individual's needs.

Personalised processes – configure processes for each alarm and alert at an individual level or by co-hort and change workflows to adapt to changing needs.

Personalised response – incorporate friends, family and others in an individuals network into care response.

Andi
by 2iC-Care

Richard Keyse CEO

Richard.keyse@2ic-care.com
+44 (0) 771 424 6413

Join us and help revolutionise social care

www.2ic-care.com